GETS for School

An English assessment for students aged 9 to 17 – a one-page introduction from a parent

Date: _____

Dear Principal / Head of English,

As a parent at the school, I would like to suggest GETS for School as a way to check and track our children's English. Here is a short summary:

- One adaptive English test for students aged 9 to 17, in four age editions: Primary, Secondary, Intermediate and Upper Intermediate.
- All four skills: Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking.
- Results as a CEFR level (A1 to B2) and a GETS Score on one scale from age 9 to 17, so progress shows every year.
- Listening and Reading results are instant. Writing and Speaking get a first mark from AI, then a Certified Examiner signs off, with full results within 3 working days.
- Children are tested only with a parent's consent, and tests are supervised in school by default.
- Curriculum-neutral: it works alongside CBSE, ICSE, state boards, Cambridge, IB, American and national curricula.
- Schools receive student reports, class and grade reports, and year-on-year progress.

Schools can start with a pilot in one grade. The GETS team can explain how it works and answer any questions at support@getstest.com or getstest.com.

Thank you for considering it.

Yours sincerely,
