Helping Higher Education Students Get Job Ready

Today, merely possessing academic knowledge is not enough to secure a good job. Employers now look for graduates who have not only subject knowledge but also strong job-related soft skills and a good command of the English language.

Keeping this in mind, the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 has made Ability Enhancement Courses (AEC) and Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC) a part of all undergraduate programmes. These courses help students develop important 21st-century skills and improve their English for real-world use.

The AEC helps students improve their English so they can speak and write confidently in the classroom, at the workplace, and in daily life. This is important for jobs both in India and abroad. The SEC builds key workplace skills like clear thinking, using digital tools, teamwork, decision-making, speaking effectively at work, and maintaining professional behaviour.

Together, AEC and SEC prepare students to succeed in their careers. For job seekers, these courses offer a strong advantage. They help in performing better in interviews, settling quickly at work, and applying for more job opportunities. Colleges and universities that offer AEC and SEC give their students the skills and confidence to build a better future in today's fast-changing world.

About the Ability Enhancement Course (AEC)

The Ability Enhancement Course (AEC) builds strong English skills for academic success and career growth. It helps students improve reading, writing, listening, and speaking, with a focus on communication in job-related situations. The course includes workplace English—like writing emails, speaking in meetings, and following job instructions—helping learners become confident and effective in real-world settings. Aligned to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR), the National Skills Qualifications Framework (NSQF) of India, and the Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF) of England, Wales, and Northern Ireland, the AEC supports students in becoming job-ready for both Indian and international opportunities.
